

Preface

The 1st and 2nd International Conferences on Modern Economic Technology and Management have been successfully held in 2014 and 2015 and the contributions have aroused more attention from the academic researching field. Since the success of the previous conferences, the 3rd International Conference on Modern Economic Technology and Management (ICMETM 2016) will be held as scheduled on April 28-29, 2016 in Kyoto, Japan so as to further search the new problems and underlying reasons existing in economic technology and management under globalization and marketization.

The proceedings in the conference mainly focus on the topics including analysis of economic policy, international finance and trade, theory of consumer behavior, evaluation and management of public project, economic development strategy and planning of new region, administrative management, business management and management of public affairs and policy and so on.